

Engramme

Engramme is an artist-run centre that has dedicated itself to the promotion of traditional printmaking for more than forty years. It continues to promote the revival of printmaking as an integral visual art form.

Engramme offers access to specialized equipment for all types of printing techniques, including UV-offset and digital printing.

Engramme promotes printmaking through its various production and dissemination activities, which provide rich opportunities for developing new expertise while questioning the medium's traditions.

Engramme's program offers special insights into current trends in contemporary art, highlighting the diversity of printmaking research. It also promotes the exploration of innovative practices, nurturing synergic contacts between printmaking and other visual arts disciplines. Engramme is a founding member of Coopérative Méduse.
