

Martha Street Studio / Manitoba Printmakers Association

The Manitoba Printmakers Association maintains the heritage of excellence in printmaking while advancing artists and innovation through technique, education and community engagement at its sustainable Martha Street Studio facility.

Martha Street Studio is a community-based printmaking facility, located in Winnipeg's historic Exchange District. Its 4,000-square-foot production space, studio, sales area and gallery occupy a fully renovated heritage building, offering the artistic community equipment, facilities and support to produce, exhibit and disseminate cutting-edge print-based works at the local, national and international level. The studio offers the public access to classes both in traditional and digital printing processes, and runs ongoing outreach programs with youth, Aboriginal artists and artists with disabilities. The gallery facility and sales area offer the city a unique selection of visual artwork from emerging and master artists, both local and international.
